

Fig. S1. has been published as submitted, and has not been copyedited, typeset or checked for scientific content by Acta Dermato-Venereologica

Fig. S1. (A) Angiodestruction was shown as multiple atypical lymphoid cells infiltrating around an illegible vessel (haematoxylin and eosin; 400X). (B) The illegible broken vessel was depicted by CD31 staining (marker for vascular endothelium) with a twisted and fragmentary morphology (400X).

