

EDITORIAL

The editor has the pleasure to inform the readers and the contributors of Acta Odontologica Scandinavica that henceforth numbers of this journal will be issued regularly and at scheduled times. These changes also include a slightly enlarged printed area for text as well as illustrations, and a smaller size of type than before. These alterations, already initiated in the first number of this volume, will result in a considerable saving in the number of pages. Effective from the end of this year, the editor, in accord with the wishes expressed by the Acta Odontologica Scandinavica Foundation, intends to use the savings involved by publishing more articles and more material than has hitherto been possible. This enlarged presentation of the results of dental research has been motivated by the great expansion of research in the dental field in Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden.
